Anreise ins Gastland (Empfehlungen, Schwierigkeiten)

Travelling to the host country (recommendations, difficulties)

I took a train from Linz to Paris. It takes around 12-14 hours with several changes. Complications can be during changes (delay of train) in that case you can take the next train without paying any additional fee.

Alternatively you can take a plane. Flights are daily and take around 2 hours from Vienna to Paris.

Prices for both modes of transport are relatively similar.

Leben im Gastland (Kultur, Unterkunft, Öffentlicher Transport, Essen, Lebenskosten)

Life in the host country (culture, accommodation, public transport, food, costs of living)

Bei Auslandsstudien: Reflektion über das Studium (Lehrveranstaltungen, Sprache, Lehrende, Studierende, Auslandsbüro an der Gastuniversität)

Bei Auslandspraktika: Reflektion über das Praktikum (Art des Unternehmens, Arbeitsaufgaben, Betreuung)

Study Mobilities: Reflection on the study program (courses, language, teachers, students, International Office at the host university)

Traineeship Mobilities: Reflection on the internship program (Type of enterprise, work tasks, support)

ATI is a friendly department. They have many collaborative projects and they try to help each other.

Professors and students are very well skilled in their specialization and willing to help you in english, but courses are in French and I would highly recommend having at least A2 level before moving to France.

I had a great experience at ATI. Different courses, especially working with motion capture was an interesting part for me. I tried different types of it. I was always interested in how it works on hardware and software level.

I had no issue communicating in english with the international office and ATI but besides that it's a problem if you don't speak french.
